Pillaton Village News

No. 235 January 2025

Happy New Year to all readers of the Village News.

Now last year when I wrote my January editorial, my major concern in life seemed to be trying to grapple with the concept of dealing with a multiplicity of recycling bins. I can confess to having real concerns particularly on the first Wednesday night of the new scheme. Being keen, my recycling bags and food waste bin went out promptly at 6.00pm just as I had advertised in the Village News. However, a quick look up and down the street revealed a complete absence of anyone else's recycling. Had I made a dreadful mistake? Did no-one read the Village News? Was I spreading misinformation? Fortunately, an hour or so later, the recycling bags and bins began to appear. Now it's all pretty well second nature.

Unfortunately, something else that seems to be very familiar is dismal, chilly weather to start the New Year and gloomy news at home and around the world. Still, there are always some chinks of light to be found. Daffodils are starting to appear, the birds seem to be more active, and Plymouth Argyle unexpectedly appeared first on Match of the Day having beaten Premier League Brentford in the FA Cup, although the next round might prove to be a more bit tricky.

Then, on a personal note I managed to win £105 in the January Village Hall 200 Club Draw. Unlike the National Lottery, there was no champagne reception, but then I had ticked the 'no publicity box.' The win may not be lifechanging but still very welcome. More importantly over the four years the 200 Club Draw has been running it has raised nearly £7,000 for the Village Hall.

Thinking back to the National Lottery, it was all such a big thing when it was first drawn in November 1994. The odds of picking the winning six numbers may have been 14 million to one, but there was always much anticipation waiting for those first live draws on the BBC Saturday night show with millions watching on TV. There were celebrity presenters, along with novelty personalities such as 'Mystic Meg' and the curiously named 'Voice of the Balls' to call out the winning numbers. Fortunately, although the National Lottery may have gone through many changes since the early 1990s, with bigger prizes, longer odds, and lower-key live draws, it still manages to raise billions for good causes.

Returning to more worrying things, recently dark rumours have started to appear in the local press about creating a huge Devonwall regional authority for Devon and Cornwall, overseen by a mayor based in Plymouth. It'll never work. On the other side of the Tamar, they don't even know which way the jam and cream go!

The next copy date is Monday 10 March - full details on page 27.

CHAIRMAN'S ITEMS

The Chairman advised councillors there was on-going maintenance work in the Playing Field to the shelter post and the zip wire mechanism had been strengthened. The posts still needed to be renewed and he would be arranging remedial repairs to them.

PARISH CLERK'S ITEMS

The following documents were circulated to all councillors:

- a). Meetings schedule for 2025.
- b). Budget & Precept 2025 / 2026 outturn report and Precepts taxbase calculator.
- c). The Financial Reserves draft policy, which was also approved by councillors.

VILLAGE WEBSITE

The website was now operational, and councillors acknowledged the success so far of the new website facility.

DEFIBRILLATOR BLEED KITS

Cllr Warne (Vice Chair) advised that Duchy Defibrillators have teamed up with Bleed Control UK and that all public access cabinets will shortly be installed with a free Bleed Kit to each cabinet with signage updated. Service Engineers will maintain the kits when the engineers visit to carry out defibrillator checks every 5-6 weeks. The Bleed Kit bags retail at £100 +vat per bag. The only charge that the Parish Council will have to meet is the annual maintenance service charge for £40 +vat per bag, per year. Payment of this charge was approved by councillors.

COUNCILLORS' REPORTS

Asbestos Fly Tipping Cllr Warne mentioned the asbestos which had been tipped by Clapper Bridge. The Clerk reported that the St.Mellion Clerk had reacted to the tipping and been provided with photographs of the asbestos by a local resident. The area in question may be able to be fenced off at the River Lynher, and a grant will be applied for. Ownership and maintenance of the area needs to be ascertained as to whether it is CORMAC's remit or the landowner. The incident has been reported to Cornwall Council and to the Environmental Protection Agency. A review of Fly-tipping will now be retained as a standing agenda item.

Briars Ryn Pathway The hazardous state of the pathway was discussed and the Clerk advised that a CORMAC Engineer would be treating the path with salt and clearing the moss.

Potholes Cllr Floyd noted the potholes situation at Darky Lane. Potholes can be reported direct to Cornwall Council using the online reporting form cornwall.gov.uk/report-something/ Tel 0300 1234 222.

Emergency Planning Telecoms Resilience Planning Cllr Johnson advised councillors that details of a consultation on this subject can be viewed at www.cornwall.gov.uk The consultation refers to 2027 when business and residential telephone lines will be replaced with a 'Voice Over Internet Protocol' system which would be reliant on a broadband connection and electrical supply. The Community is required to prepare to respond to the changes and potential loss of telecommunications by evaluating the threats and preparing a plan.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Clerk informed councillors about a Clerk's online event he had attended relating to a government consultation in respect of remote attendance and proxy voting at Public Meetings.

An estimation of forthcoming Local Election costs has been received by the Clerk and, notwithstanding an amount of £300 which resides in the Contingency fund, there is no provision in the 2025/2026 precept for funding election expenses. The possible need to draw on reserves to cover these costs (£1,764.61 for a contested election, and £317.28 for uncontested) was noted by councillors.

Potholes Concern about potholes was raised again by Cllr Floyd. (See also comment on page 5 in proceeding for December meeting).

THE 80TH ANNIVERSARY OF VE DAY

A Pillaton Day of Celebrations - Saturday 3 May 2025

VE (Victory in Europe) Day looks back to 8 May 1945, when Nazi Germany officially surrendered, and World War II came to an end in Europe. The war continued in the Pacific, but the victory in Europe meant that the eventual total victory of the Allies was virtually inevitable at that point.

The defeat of Germany in 1945 resulted in massive celebrations across the country and in London with crowds pouring into Trafalgar Square and streaming up the Mall to see Winston Churchill and the king and queen standing on the balcony of Buckingham Palace.

The UK always observes VE Day on 8 May each year, although it is not normally a bank holiday. In 2020 as part of the 75th anniversary celebrations the date of the Early May Bank Holiday was moved to 8 May. However, as everyone will remember 2020 was the year of the pandemic, with no opportunity to properly celebrate due to covid restrictions.

This year Pillaton will be marking the 80th Anniversary of VE Day and holding its celebrations on Saturday 3 May. This is slightly in advance of the correct date, but during the Bank Holiday weekend to avoid the difficulties of arranging a weekday event.

Planning is now well advanced for an afternoon and evening programme of events centred around the Village Hall and Playing Field. It is hoped to hold children's games in the afternoon, perhaps with a bouncy castle. In the evening there will be a Hog Roast, and live music from Company 'B', a 1940s-style American military tribute band, with an excellent reputation.

Entry will be free - you only pay for food purchased.

More details will be published nearer the date on the village website, village Facebook Group and in the March edition of the Village News.

The lead for the event is Peter Johnson. Please contact him direct with any suggestions, offers of help or other queries.

PILLATON RAINFALL FIGURES

Bob Muxlow has now very kindly taken on the job of recording Pillaton's rainfall figures, a task that Brian Hutfield undertook for many years. The figures for the last 12 years, completed up to date are shown below. Whilst the total rainfall for 2024 may not have been particularly high in comparison to some recent years, my recollection is that the weather across the year was largely indifferent, marked by a very wet early spring and not that much sun during the summer.

RICHARD HOCKING

Just over 75 years ago, on Boxing Day 1949, one of Pillaton's more notable residents passed away at the age of 93. This was the Reverend Richard Hocking, someone who has featured several times in the Village News and who may still be remembered by some older members of the community.

Richard Hocking was born in Stonehouse on 19 October 1856, the elder of two brothers, and came from a family of renowned ship builders. His grandfather had founded a firm in 1801 which built some of the largest sailing ships in Plymouth. Not surprisingly, given this family background, the young Richard was a keen yachtsman. Following his father's death in 1873, together with his brother William, he took over the ownership of the 10-ton cutter 'Ida'. The yacht was well known in Plymouth and reputed to be the fastest boat of her size west of Dartmouth. The two brothers raced the yacht successfully for the next four years and won the Falmouth regatta in 1877. Then, in May 1884 he married Frances Rodd in Stoke Damerel and together they went on to have seven children, three daughters and four sons, two of whom were to be born in Pillaton.

However, Richard Hocking's vocation in life was to be away from the sea. He trained at Truro Theological College becoming a deacon in 1884 and was ordained as a priest by Bishop John Speechley in 1889. His first parish was as curate in Hessenford, before moving further west in Cornwall to work in the parishes of Crowan and Treslothan near Camborne. Then on Thursday 30 August 1894 Richard Hocking was inducted as the Rector of Pillaton by the Rural Dean, Cannon Hammond at a service held in St Odolph's Church, a position he was to hold for over 50 years. The start of his tenure was also marked by Mrs Digby Collins of Newton Ferrers who presented the church with a new silver flagon for the altar wine.

Although officially the Rector, Richard Hocking was more familiarly known to his parishioners as Parson and would have officiated at thousands of services in the church, including many hundreds of baptisms, burials, and marriages. He also did much to improve the fabric and furnishings of the church building. One of his first actions being to raise funds to have the granite tower re-pointed and refurbished. He even resorted to painting the church flagstaff himself when he couldn't find a painter prepared to take on the job without removing the pole to the ground. Being a keen yachtsman, the new Parson probably wasn't afraid of heights.

By 1902, another of his fundraising campaigns had managed to raise enough money to replace the old failing church harmonium with a new pipe organ to provide much improved musical accompaniment to services.

Richard Hocking was also a keen bell ringer, and his next major project was to have the three existing church bells refurbished along with the addition of three new heavier bells to make a ring of six. The cost of the work was £400, which required the organisation of numerous events. By autumn 1909 the necessary funds had been raised and on 7 October that year the new peal of bells was dedicated by the Bishop of St Germans at a special service held in a packed St Odulph's Church. Unfortunately, the weather wasn't that obliging, being very wet and stormy, such that gale force winds tore the flag of St George on the tower to shreds.

In April 1916 tragedy struck the Hocking family when their son Flight Sub-Lieutenant William Hocking Royal Navy was killed when his seaplane crashed whilst conducting flying manoeuvres from HMS KILLINGHOLME. His body was never recovered, but William is remembered on the Chatham Naval War Memorial. His name is also on the Pillaton War Memorial, the planning and siting of which the Parson would become closely involved. He was particularly insistent the new memorial with its inscribed names should face down the hill towards the village rather than out onto the road.

The unveiling of the Pillaton War Memorial on Sunday 20 August 1922. The Parson (holding his hand to his ear) is pictured on the right of Col W P Drury by the memorial who addressed the assembly.

There were soon to be happier times ahead for Richard Hocking when he officiated at the marriages of three of his children in the church at Pillaton. However, the need to raise more money was never far away. By the early 1920s the requirement was for a church heating system and in the early 1930s one of the main church walls was in serious need of restoration and repointing leading to another series of church fetes being held at the Rectory.

Over the years the Hocking family donated much in the way of furnishings to the church, the altar rails in 1914, a beautifully carved Eagle Lectern in memory of son William, the riddell posts either side of the altar on behalf of his grandchildren, candlesticks and in 1929 an oak screen constructed by son-in-law Herbert who was a master sculptor.

The stain glass window in memory of daughter Frances

In 1938 more sadness lay ahead for the Hocking family when the Parson's eldest daughter Frances, who was unmarried, passed away, aged 53. She is remembered by a small stain glass window in St Odulph's church and is buried in Pillaton.

Three years later in February 1941 Richard Hocking's wife Frances died aged 82. She had also contributed much to the local community, having been governor of Callington County School, manager of the Pillaton Church of England School and Vice-President of the Pentillie and District Nursing Association.

Then in February 1946 at the age of 89 Richard Hocking finally retired as the Rector of Pillaton after 51 years service. At a special social event held in Pillaton on Saturday 23 February he was presented with two silver ashtrays by parishioners, grateful for everything he had done on their behalf. The newspaper report goes on to say, “a very happy evening was then spent with games, dancing and songs.”

Richard Hocking’s final few years were spent living back in Stonehouse, Plymouth. His funeral took place in Pillaton on Thursday 29 Dec 1949, and he is buried in the churchyard together with his wife and daughter Frances.

The Hocking family grave by the church door

This undated image from the church shows the Hocking family in the Rectory garden. It was probably taken in the 1900s; the dress styles look to be Edwardian. My guess is the occasion was Parson Hocking’s 50th birthday in October 1906, with him surrounded by six of his children. I’ve had a go at labelling the individuals with their birth years and age (in brackets) as they would have been in 1906. See if you think the ages match the faces.

SALTASH TUNNEL

The major work on the £25 million upgrade to the A38 Saltash Tunnel started on Monday 13 January.

Initially, to limit disruption, this will involve overnight closures on the eastbound carriageway only.

These initial closures will run on until the end of February 2025, with the eastbound carriageway of the tunnel being closed on weeknights between 8.00pm and 6.00am. During these closures westbound traffic will be able to use the tunnel as usual with eastbound traffic using local diversion routes through Saltash via North Road.

The tunnel will remain open as normal during the day and at weekends.

At the end of February, full overnight closures will begin in both directions and these overnight tunnel closures are expected to continue until Winter 2025 / 2026.

Dates may be subject to change and the latest updates are available at:
